PART I

U. S. CATHOLIC MISSION ASSOCIATION

UNITED STATES CATHOLIC MISSION ASSOCIATION

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE

The United States Catholic Mission Association is the continuation of the former U.S. Catholic Mission Council. The USCMC was constituted as a coalition of five committees, representing respectively the NCCB/USCC, the Conference of Major Superiors of Men, the Leadership Conference of Women Religious, the National Council of Catholic Laity, and the Pontifical and Episcopal Mission Agencies. This was changed when the Bishops, at their General Meeting held in Washington, D.C. in November 1980, decided to withdraw as members of the Mission Council.

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the USCMC, held in Washington, D.C. on May 19, 1981, the decision was taken by the Board and subsequently ratified by a unanimous vote of all the Council members, that the name of the U.S. Catholic Mission Council be changed to U.S. Catholic Mission Association, and that the Bylaws be revised accordingly. This decision became effective on September 1, 1981.

The purpose of the Mission Association, as expressed in the Bylaws, is to "enable the sponsoring agencies (i.e. the Conference of Major Superiors of Men and the Leadership Conference of Women Religious) to make a significant contribution toward the evaluation, coordination, and fostering, in the United States, of the world-wide missionary efforts of the Catholic Church."

PRESENT ORGANIZATION

The USCMA is currently sponsored by the LCWR and the CMSM, through their respective Mission Committees. It is the firm intention of the two Conferences to modify the present sponsorship by expanding the membership of the Mission Association to include all segments of the Church that are primarily involved in cross-cultural mission and its outgrowth, abroad and at home. Though holding a global view of mission, the USCMA focuses its activities upon the cross-cultural mission of the Church.

At present, the functions of the USCMA are coordinated by a fourteen-member Board of Directors, who meet twice a year and who annually elect from the membership a President and Vice-President to serve for a one-year term. Between meetings of the Board, the administration of policies and programs of the Mission Association is entrusted to an Executive Committee comprising the President, the Vice-President, and the Chairpersons of the Standing Committees. The day-to-day activities of the USCMA are carried out on a full-time basis by the Executive Secretary, who is elected by the Board of Directors for a term of three years.

ACTIVITIES

General activities of the Mission Association are typical of organizations of its kind. Special activities at the present time include the following:

Programs

Washington Mission Seminars. Two-week seminars three times a year, for both missionaries on home visit and new missionaries, for mutual sharing, renewal, theological and pastoral updating, and reanimation for the missions.

Mission Animators Workshop. A two-week intensive workshop (three credits optional), directed at people in mission education and animation.

Consultations. The Association serves as a convener for bringing together representatives of mission-sending groups and agencies to confer on the experiences of American missionaries in various countries and activities abroad, with their implications for the U.S. Church.

Seminars. The Association sponsors or co-sponsors seminars on current topics relating to the Mission of the Church.

Publications

Mission Intercom. A newsletter, published ten times a year, containing concise items of missionary interest gleaned from a broad range of publications and other sources of information.

Mission Handbook. An annual publication containing statistics drawn from the Mission Association's data bank, on U.S. Catholic personnel abroad and on the countries in which they are working.

Mission Institutes. An annual compilation of available workshops and seminars of potential interest to new or furloughed missionaries.

Films. Flyers on films pertaining to the missionary nature of the Church, for use in schools, CCD programs, and adult education.

Distribution of Women Religious in the United States: 1978. A map which shows the distribution of the total number of North American sisters according to dioceses. Four smaller maps show by diocese the ratio of active sisters to total population, to Catholics, to the unchurched, and to families in poverty.

Attitudes of American Women Religious Toward the Concept of Mission. A research report which studies how North American women religious look at Mission, how they score in relationship to the five Models of Mission, and what are some of the variables which influence them in their concept of Mission.

PART II

U.S. CATHOLIC MISSION INVENTORY

GUIDELINES TO PRESENTATION

The following 1981 tabulation of United States Catholic missionaries serving abroad has been compiled by the U.S. Catholic Mission Association from data carefully gathered from many sources. For each of the missionaries listed in these tables, the Association has obtained a data-form of basic information. The tables have been compiled from these individual forms, not from totals given by mission-sending groups, or home dioceses, or mission fields. They are, therefore, as reliable as the most diligent effort can make them, and as the constant changes in personnel will allow. Some comment, however, on each of the terms in the title of these tables is necessary.

The tables list only U.S. missionaries, which means those who are or have been United States citizens by birth or naturalization. Those who have taken out citizenship in their countries of mission service are still listed here as missionaries from the United States. On the other hand, citizens of other countries serving as members of mission-sending groups headquartered in the U.S. are not listed. For example, there are numerous Maryknoll sisters serving abroad, often in countries other than their homeland who are not U.S. citizens and therefore are not listed here among the Maryknoll sisters serving as U.S. Catholic missionaries abroad. This policy helps to prevent overlapping when the various national mission councils publish their tabulations. It must be remembered, however, that mission-sending groups which, in these tables, appear to have only very few members in a given mission field may have many more who are not of U.S. citizenship.

The tables bear the heading U.S. Catholic missionaries. This includes a small number of Catholic missionaries serving with Protestant mission-sending agencies. It also includes a small number of Protestant and Jewish volunteers serving under the auspices of Catholic agencies, for example, some of the medical personnel placed in the mission field by the Catholic Medical Mission Board.

The term missionaries is used in its generally accepted sense, including not only those engaged in the primary and subsequent stages of evangelization, but also those in the closely related areas of community service and development.

The term serving ordinarily stands for service over a long period of years, or for life. While on the other hand some groups, particularly many lay volunteer groups, provide short-term service, only those are included in these statistics who serve a minimum of one year.

The term abroad means "outside of the 48 contiguous States." The tabulation does not include, therefore, the hundreds of "home missioners" working in parts of our country in situations comparable to any in other lands. In general, the list of "mission countries" is that followed in two decades of such data-gathering by the former Mission Secretariat and the national office of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

INTERNATIONAL LIAISON: Catholic Coordinating Center for Lay Volunteer Ministries
1234 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005. Tel: (202) 638-4197

The International Liaison is a clearing house for volunteer lay personnel. Each year the Liaison polls the missions throughout the world to ascertain their needs for qualified lay expertise. The Liaison then channels these mission needs to the laity of the United States, through advertising, talks, and, more especially, through the booklet The Response. This publication is widely distributed through the United States.

The Liaison sees the work of the laity as an integral part of the total Catholic approach to the mission of the Church in the world. It constantly searches for projects whereby lay and religious work side by side, particularly in the area of temporal expertise. Towards this end, the Liaison makes every effort to work out equitable arrangements between the sending agency and the lay volunteer. The normal term of service is a minimum of two years, with possibilities for renewel.
